Participating in the Establishment of Post-2015 Framework

We, citizens of Japan, have learnt a great deal through our experiences of the Great East Japan Earthquake and Tsunami in 2011. One way of ensuring the lessons learnt with so much sacrifice are communicated to the next generation is to reflect these lessons in global policies and frameworks.

FUKUSHIMA

MARCH 12-17, 2015

@ FUKUSHIMA & SENDAI

Lessons We Can Share from Fukushima

The Fukushima Daiichi Nuclear Power Plant disaster was truly unprecedented, particularly for the Japanese community who had believed that nuclear power is safe and clean energy. The disaster led to massive displacement, loss of communities and livelihoods, etc. Even after more than three and a half years, many people still cannot return. JCC2015 will highlight these ongoing issues, as learning from this disaster will enhance the world's preparedness towards the future. Please allocate time before and during WCDRR to join these events!

FUKUSHIMA	March 12	Field Exchange - Bus trip to Fukushima to witness the present situation and to hear local voices from affected communities. A truly civil society perspective to the aftermath of a nuclear power plant disaster.
	March 13	Global Symposium - A global event with both international and domestic scientists, doctors, academia, and civil society. Presentations and discussions will cover monitoring effects, medical concerns, and issues from a rights based and empowerment perspective.
SENDAI	March 14	Public Forum Session - A session by JCC2015 members on nuclear focused DRR by ensuring public participation. Based on the lessons learnt in Fukushima, the session will provide suggestions for the future.
	March 17	Public Forum Session - A session by a coalition of agencies working in Fukushima to draw key lessons from civil society perspectives on the cascading disaster (earthquake, tsunami, and nuclear) in 2011.

Is this risk only for Fukushima?

Nuclear power plant accidents have occurred in the past, and again in Fukushima in 2011.

What are the lessons we all need to learn and prepare for the future?

JCC2015 is preparing a booklet with essential lessons learnt from communities in Fukushima, and it will be launched on March 13!
